Learn Table Manners of Other Countries

Each country has different table etiquette. For example, in Japan, it is not ok to eat rice with a spoon. They eat it with chopsticks! When I visited my friend in Japan a few years ago, she took me to a nice restaurant. She ordered delicious food for me. When I tried to eat my rice with a spoon, my friend said, "In Japan, we use chopsticks to eat rice." From that day on, I started learning table manners of other countries. When you visit another country, learn the country's table manners and traditions before you go there. Then, you will be able to have more fun there!
