U.S. Secretary of State Visits Seoul

President Lee and Hillary Clinton are shaking hands.

U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton paid a visit to Seoul on May 26. The purpose of the visit was to discuss the issues over the Cheonan Navy Ship, which was sunk in March due to North Korea's attack. Ms. Clinton was warmly welcomed at Cheong Wa Dae and had a meeting with President Lee Myung-bak. "The U.S. government will continuously support the Korean government with regards to Cheonan Ship," she said in the meeting. "We have to take strong actions against North Korea. The global community should also raise their voices against the North's provocative action," she added. In response to the comment, President Lee said, "All Koreans appreciate the immediate support from the American government and the international community." Currently, the South Korean government is forcing the North to take responsibility, while the communist nation denies its attack. Let's hope things will turn out in a good way in the end.

On May 25, the Spanish government announced that people won't be able to smoke in public places such as restaurants and cafes from next year. "Spain needs tougher measures on smoking," said Health Minister Trinidad Jimenez. "Banning smoking in public places is necessary for our people's health. The government had hoped to tighten the rules on smoking this year, but tougher restrictions are unlikely to be in place before the beginning of 2011." According to statistics presented by the Health Minister, 47.4 percent of Spaniards are in favor of the ban. Smoking in the workplace and metro has been already prohibited since 2006. In Spain, about 160 people die from smoking every day.

The World's Youngest Person to Conquer Mt. Everest

As you all know, Mt. Everest is the highest mountain in the world. It is 8,850 meters above sea level! Until now, numerous people have tried to conquer the mountain. Some have succeeded and many have failed. On May 22, a 13-year-old boy from California made history by climbing to the top of the world's highest mountain! The amazing boy's name is Jordan Romero. He became the world's youngest person to conquer Mt. Everest! The previous record holder was a 15-year-old girl from Nepal. Now Jordan is ready to conquer the other highest peaks in other continents. So, why did the young boy climb the world's high mountain? "I wanted to do something big for myself. I also wanted to climb Everest to inspire more young people to get outdoors. Child obesity is a serious problem in America," he said. "I am hoping to make a difference by doing what I do - climbing and motivational speaking." We hope to see you bring about changes, Jordan! But be careful when climbing the mountains!

Luxury Bathroom for the Legend of Soccer

The 2010 World Cup will be held from June 11 to July 12 in South Africa. The country is busy preparing for the big event. Many famous soccer players and coaches, including Argentina's Diego Maradona, will visit South Africa to participate in the tournament. Interestingly, the host country decided to provide the Argentine coach with a luxury bathroom.

Following a special request from the Argentine Football Association (AFA), Diego Maradona will get a luxury bathroom during the World Cup. The AFA asked South Africa to remodel the coach's bathroom because the basin and toilet bowl were not up to his standards.

According to South African newspaper, The Sunday Times, Maradona's toilet will include a new wash basin, toilet bowl, cistern, tap, and a luxury bidet toilet seat. The bidet has a heated seat and a warm air blow-dryer.

The 50-year-old coach was a soccer player before he became the head coach of the Argentine national soccer team in 2008. He retired from playing soccer on his 37th birthday in 1997. He is still widely remembered as one of the best soccer players of all time. In his career, he scored 34 goals!

He played in four FIFA World Cup tournaments. In the 1986 World Cup, Maradona led his national team to victory over West Germany in the final. He won the Golden Ball Award as the tournament's best player.

I guess the world-famous coach deserves the luxury bathroom! Let's hope the special bidet helps him lead his national team to victory. Argentina will play their first match against Nigeria on June 12 in Johannesburg.

What Fish Are Scared of

Do you keep gold fish at home? Then, here's an interesting experiment you can do. All you need to prepare is a mirror as this experiment is very simple. Just show the mirror to your fish and see what happens. It will try to fight itself when it looks at the mirror! American researchers at Stanford University discovered in a new study that fish are scared of their own reflections. "Fish are frightened when they see their reflections making the same moves as them and try to fight back," said Dr. Julie Desjardins, who led the study. "Perhaps it is similar to when you are a little kid and someone keeps repeating back to you what you've just said - that quickly becomes annoying and frustrating." The scientists believe that the research indicates that the brains of fish are very similar to those of humans. Isn't this surprising?

Don't Be Scared of Fat!

As the summer is coming, many kids care very much about their looks. They are very keen on watching their body shapes and weight. Some kids even go on a diet and hit the gym. Are you shaping up for summer? Do you feel uncomfortable about your weight? Have no worries. Here is the positive information on your worst nightmare – fat.

For years, it seems like fat has been talked about in the media as the most horrible thing in the body. People commonly believe that fat is no good. But this is not true. Did you know that fat is where most of the energy in your body is stored? Medically it was proven that fat is the main source of energy for your muscles and organs.

Too much fat is surely no good. However, getting rid of all the fat in the body is a foolish thing to do! Besides supplying the body with energy, fat does many other good things for the body. It provides cushions for the organs. It also regulates the body's temperature.

Most of you have probably heard that cholesterol is bad for the body. But here's something interesting: Cholesterol which comes from fats is essential for the body. Without a doubt, too much cholesterol is bad. Then again, the body needs some cholesterol to survive. You must understand that too much of anything for the body is bad.

Today, the store shelves are lined up with low fat goodies. Fast food restaurants also use healthier oil for their customers' health. The point is simple: Don't worry too much. Please remember that the reason for obesity isn't just fat.

Children are very inactive these days. Instead of walking or biking, many children always use public transportation or get a ride from their parents. Instead of playing sports, they sit in front of the television or the computer.

Of course eating healthy, nutritious food is important. But being active is important, too. If you want to stay in shape, eat well-balanced meals and exercise regularly. Eating your favorite cookies and chips from time to time is OK. Just make sure your belly has room for a healthy home-made dinner, too! ➡

Why Is Learning a Foreign Language Great?

I'm sure many of you are learning at least one foreign language, including English. It's not easy to learn foreign languages. You may complain about learning them, but there are many good points about learning foreign languages. Here, Eliot and Betty are talking about the topic.

eliot: What are you doing, Betty?

betty: I'm doing my French homework. Phew... French is so difficult. I don't know why I have to learn this difficult language.

eliot: Hey, try to enjoy learning it. French is the most beautiful language in the world.

betty: Well, many people say that. But I don't think I will have a chance to use French anyways. So, what's the point of learning it?

eliot: Betty, listen. Learning foreign languages gives you a lot of benefits. For example, you can make friends with foreigners. You can also learn about other cultures because you need to understand the culture first to understand a foreign language.

betty: Hmm... I think you have a point. I love French food and French movies. Learning French can actually help me when I visit France, too! I can talk with French people and order food at restaurants in France! That would be awesome!

eliot: If you learn French, you can also enjoy watching French movies even more because you don't have to read the subtitles! Wouldn't it be cool?

betty: Cool! Come to think of it, there are some more benefits from learning foreign languages. If I can speak a foreign language very well, I can even study abroad! Who knows? Maybe I will get accepted by a French arts university and become a famous artist!

eliot: You will also have more career choices. If you can speak many languages, you can work in many places all over the world!

betty: You are right. I guess there are many good things about learning foreign languages. Why don't we think about them together?

Amazing Doggy Surfers

California is famous for its nice weather and beautiful beaches. Many people go there to enjoy surfing. Even dogs enjoy surfing in California! There is even a surfing contest for dogs. On May 22, many dog surfers gathered in San Diego to participate in the dog surfing competition.

▲ The dog is enjoying surfing.

The surfing competition for dogs started five years ago. The event is getting more popular and the dog surfers are gaining a lot of attention. Many of the dogs even have websites and Facebook fan pages!

This year, 65 dogs from all across America participated in the event. The competition was held at a beach in San Diego, a beautiful city in California. The dogs were divided into weight classes: small dogs (18 kilograms or less) and large dogs (19 kilograms or more). The doggy surfers were judged on the length of their ride, confidence, and overall ability.

So, who is this year's winner? A four-year-old rescue dog named Abbie won the competition! "I decided to teach her how to surf to make her legs stronger. Abbie trusted me and enjoyed learning to surf," said her owner Michael Uy. "She and I have a special bond."

It costs between $50 and $55 to register a dog for the competition, but watching the event is free. Each year's proceeds go to charity. If you have a chance to visit San Diego, don't miss the fun event!

▲ Xiao Bao is dancing to Michael Jackson's music.

Michael Jackson Came Back to Life in China?

Without a doubt, Michael Jackson was the King of Pop. He passed away last year, but he is still remembered and loved by his fans all over the world. People in China especially love his music. Recently, a 4-year-old Chinese boy named Xiao Bao came into the spotlight with his fantastic dance moves. People call him the "spirit of Michael Jackson."

Xiao Bao is gaining international fame by perfectly mimicking the King of Pop's dance moves. He performed at the 2010 World Expo which opened in Shanghai on May 1. The audience was wowed by his fantastic performance! He even appeared on an American TV show! Now he is called the "little treasure" in China.

The Little Michael Jackson starts dancing every time he hears music. "I would listen to music and dance in my mom's belly even before I was born," said the little dancer. He started dancing when he was two years old.

"When he was young, I just started playing music to him and he started moving around like this. But I didn't think that he had such a strong feeling for music," said his mother Bian Aiqing. Soon, he started learning dancing from a dance teacher. He has mastered Michael Jackson's moves including the moonwalk. He even bought special outfits, hats and shirts for his dance.

Many Jackson fans are very happy to see the boy dancing. They think the King of Pop came back to life in China! Way to go, Little Michael Jackson!

Dear Andy,

Hi, Andy! How are you today?

① I feel very sad today.

My lovely pet dog died this morning.

Her name was Mini.

Do you remember her?

I've sent you some of her photos before.

Mini was 11 years old.

② According to my mom, dogs live for only about 10 years.

So Mini's time was up.

I know it was a natural part of her life.

But I still feel very sad!

I cried all day long.

She was like my little sister.

I spent my whole life with her.

She came to my house when I was a little girl.

③ I used to play with her in my back yard.

I can't believe that now I can't see her anymore.

Saying good-bye to her is really hard.

④ I will miss her so much!

Sad, Mina

Dear Sad Mina,

① Hey, Mina! I'm sorry to hear that.
Yes, of course I remember your dog.
As a matter of fact, I still have her photos.

② She was such a cute little dog!
You must be very sad to lose her.
I know how you feel.
I cried a lot when my pet cat died, too.
But please don't be too sad.
She had such a wonderful, happy life with you.
I'm sure Mini doesn't want you to be sad, either.

③ I guess she is resting in peace now.
I'm sure you will miss her a lot.
But death is one of the most important parts of our lives.
The sad part is that we never know when it will come!
So we should spend a lot of time with our loved ones.
Expressing our love to our loved ones is important, too.

④ I guess Mini left you a very important message.
Rest in peace, Mini!

Who Has the Largest Brain in the World?

Humans have very powerful brains. Even though we are not the biggest or strongest creatures in the world, thanks to our brains, we can rule the whole world. That is why human beings are called the lords of all creatures. However, humans don't have the largest brains in the world. Then, whose brain is the largest in the world?

Let me give you some hints. The creature with the world's largest brain lives deep in the ocean, but it is a mammal. It is huge and eats about 900 kilograms of fish and squid per day. It is known to dive as deep as 1,000 meters in search of squid to eat. This giant mammal holds its breath for up to 90 minutes on such dives!

Now, can you guess what it is? Yes, it's the sperm whale! It has the largest brain of any creature living on Earth. It is also the largest of the toothed whales and the deepest diving whale.

So, how big are they? They are much bigger than a bus! Male sperm whales can grow up to be between 15 and 18 meters long and may weigh up to 45 tons. Females are smaller and will grow to around 11 meters and weigh up to 14 tons.

A great number of sperm whales were caught by whalers in the 18th, 19th century and in the 1960s for their oil and ambergris. The ambergris in their intestines was used to make perfume. The number of the whales reduced greatly due to whaling. However, despite large population drops, sperm whales are not endangered. What a relief!

Pistachios

Do the Body Good

Pistachios are healthy nuts that you should eat often. They provide numerous health benefits. They are delicious, inexpensive, and easy to enjoy. They can be added to salads, yogurt, or pancakes. Let's learn about this amazing nut!

Pistachios are good for your heart. Eating the nut helps reduce bad cholesterol levels and increase good cholesterol. Pistachios also lower blood pressure. Reducing both blood cholesterol and blood pressure helps decrease the risk of heart disease. American doctors recently found that eating a handful of pistachios a day can even prevent cancer.

Pistachios also help you lose weight by curbing your appetite. Unlike other nuts, they are low in calories. These low-calorie nuts contain various nutrients. They are high in fiber and contain over 30 vitamins and minerals. They are also a good source of protein.

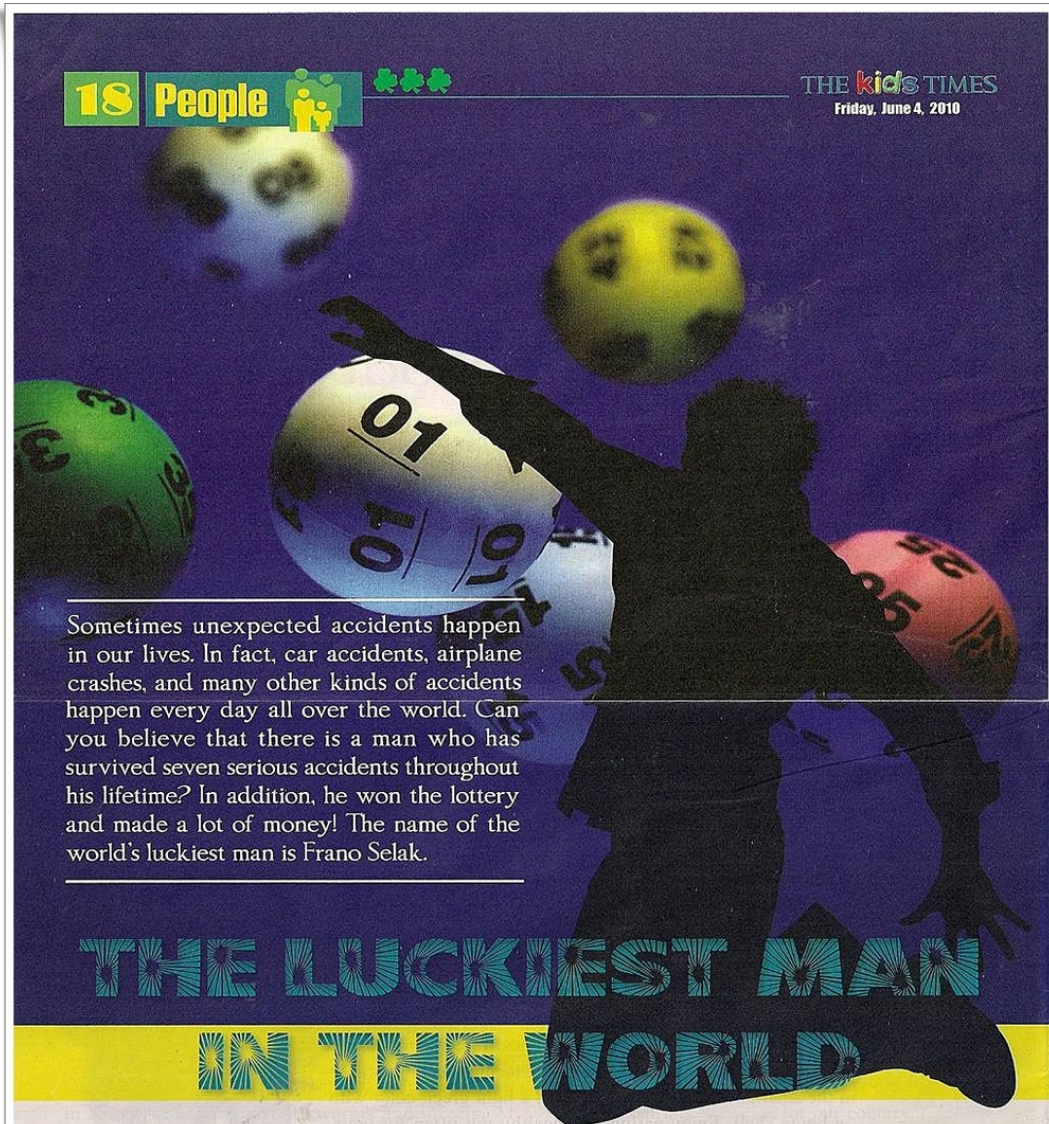

Pistachios are also an excellent source of copper and manganese. Copper and manganese are important for tissue development, growth, and the metabolism of fat and carbohydrates. Pistachios are good for your eyes, too.

When buying pistachios, avoid salted ones. Excess salt can raise blood pressure. Instead, choose pistachios that are still in the shell and select pistachios with a light green color with a beige shell. Enjoy eating this healthy nut often for your heart and eyes! ➡

Sometimes unexpected accidents happen in our lives. In fact, car accidents, airplane crashes, and many other kinds of accidents happen every day all over the world. Can you believe that there is a man who has survived seven serious accidents throughout his lifetime? In addition, he won the lottery and made a lot of money! The name of the world's luckiest man is Frano Selak.

THE LUCKIEST MAN IN THE WORLD

Mr. Selak is now 81 years old. He was a music teacher in Croatia. So, why is he called the luckiest man on Earth? He came across seven horrible accidents in his life, but he survived them all! His first accident happened in 1962 when a train he was travelling on from Sarajevo to Dubrovnik jumped the rails and plunged into a cold river. Seventeen people drowned in the accident, but Mr. Selak managed to swim out to the riverbank.

A year later, his second accident happened and he was thrown out of an airplane when a door flew open. A total of 19 people died this time, but the lucky man was pulled out of the airplane and landed in a haystack safely.

Then in 1966, he came across his third accident when a bus he was on skidded into a river. Again, he swam to safety and survived. Accident number four happened in 1970 when his car caught fire as he drove along an expressway. He managed to escape from the burning car before the fuel tank exploded.

Three years later, he lost most of his hair when a broken fuel pump spewed petrol over the hot engine of his car and blew flames through the air vents, but he wasn't seriously injured. Then in 1995, he was hit by a bus in Zagreb, but luckily, he wasn't seriously injured.

The following year, his seventh accident happened when he was driving in the mountains. When he turned a corner, he saw a big truck coming straight for him. When he opened his eyes, his car was falling over a high precipice. But he managed to sit in a tree before his car hit the bottom and exploded.

His luck didn't end here. He won about a billion won when he bought a lottery ticket for the first time to celebrate his wedding anniversary five years ago! He bought a luxury house and even a private island with the money. But the lucky man recently decided to give away all of his fortune. "Money cannot buy happiness. So I decided to live a simple, thrifty life," he said. "All I need at my age is my wife. Money would not change anything," he added with a bright smile. ☞
